THE two recent armed attacks on Wing Lok Street hongs recall the days of 1878, when an extraordinary run of serious orime gave rise to a general feeling of holding of a public meeting on the Cricket wave of crime that then passed ever the Colony was directly due to a mistaken vernment, which led the criminal classes to believe trut they could carry on their depredations in the Colony with the minimum of risk of detection and the lightest 25th September of the year namedana eighty to a hundred men made an armed ness for their operations they extinguished in the streets and lanes a lineart. Forcing an entrance into the shop they ranpremises in search boots, but being unable to break open the safe before they were disturbed the amount they secured was inconsiderable. In the encounter which took place after the alarm was given three Europeans, two Skh constables, a Chinese district watchman, and a shop coolie were wound d, and one of the robbers was shot dead. The other robbers all escaped across the harbour. Before the attack they had taken the precaution of board. ing a steam-trunch and compelling the engineer to get up steam, so that the launch was in readings for them the moment she was required. This launch was found the following afternoon high and dry on the Chinese proposals of peace. beach near Mong-kok-tsui. John Roberts, I have reason to know, was particularly pleased at the performance of such a fast in his native city, for he was born at Ardwick on August 15, 1847, being the son of Mr. John Roberts, himself a great player: In his day, Roberts, san, was considered so much the superior of all other players that nobody could be persuaded to accept from him 300 out of 1,000 in a match, for money, and his breaks of 200, all-in, were considered quite phenominal. and Coine p nies who have never won a rice best, a break of 100 was mucommon, and Hughes, Dufton, Howles, and Tabley, who canked next to him, played matches without once reaching these figures in a single effort. In 1860, John Roberts. and his son, then a lid of, 3, went to, London, and the elder leased Savile House. Li ideater Square, on the site of which now stands the Empire Theatre. The premises were fitted only as a billiard saloon, and all the principal matches of the day, including those of the rival universities were played there, Master John soon showed that he was following his father, for at 13 he won a handicap at St. James's Hall, in which wixteen of the leading players of the day competed. 'The first match for manay in which Roberts took part was against Wm. Cook It was

The meeting was arranged for April 14, and Roberts gained an easy victory by 478 points. It was not destined that he should enjoy the distinction long for Jose Bennett beat; him, and Cook avenged, himself. The commission was held in turn by Cook. Roberts and Bennett until 1885; when Roberts defeated Cook by 92. and Bennett by 1,640. Since that date, June, 1985, Roberts has remained the unoballenged and undisputed champion of English players. No one has the courage to tackle him under the championship conditions, although Peall is doubtless quite willing to play him at the all in 7 ms which is, after all is said and done, billiard. To illustrate the vast scope of the work the li is published at the following facts are submitted for consideration :-Chalmers Vocabulary contains about 16,000 All PARCEL PACKAGES should be marked to Chinese characters, and Medhurst's English through and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst London this work contains more than 50,000 English Company's Office until Five F.M. the day pre- words, and upwar is of 600,000 Chinese characters. Again, despite all the grammars and other elementary works as yet published, the student of this difficult language absolutely requires examples to display the various appliestions and equivalents of different words which have one general meaning. Of these examples this work contains more than five times as

> For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who 14 understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to the natives thomselves it explains subjects fully with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted. To parties resident in England and interested China it cannot but be invaluable occasion-It comprises upwards of two thousand large
